Mindfulness for the Western Mind: An Educational Retreat

Bill Morgan, Psy.D., is a founding board member of the Institute for Meditation and Psychotherapy, and co-author of the critically acclaimed book for professionals, Mindfulness and Psychotherapy. Bill has led residential retreats for clinicians for the past 20 years and he has participated in more than 7 years of intensive retreats in Zen, Tibetan and Theravada Schools of Buddhism. A warm and engaging presenter, Bill excels in leading creative guided meditations. He is in private practice and has recently authored The Meditator's Dilemma: An Innovative Approach to Overcoming Obstacles and Revitalizing Your Practice.

SYMPOSIUM DESCRIPTION

Therapeutic presence is a core attribute of our profession, and one which mindfulness practice can deepen. However, not all mindfulness instruction and practice will cultivate the kind of holding environment we are looking for. After establishing a theoretical understanding of the cause of suffering and its treatment in Buddhist psychology, participants will learn a wide range of mindfulness techniques which will be useful both in deepening therapeutic presence and teaching clients.

These techniques will include body awareness, self-compassion, concentration, open awareness and inquiry practices. We will examine ways to personally enliven mindfulness practice, so that both we and our patients are more likely to practice in a rich and meaningful fashion.

Our time will be equally divided between lecture and guided meditation. It is through cumulative practice sessions during this symposium that mindfulness and therapeutic presence will deepen.

While this course is suitable for seasoned mindfulness practitioners, no prior experience with meditation is required.

SYMPOSIUM SCHEDULE
